

14th EBEEC Conference 2022 – Florence Corporate Governance track

Call for Paper

The 14th annual EBEEC conference in May 2022 will include this year a corporate governance track intended to provide a forum for international academics and policymakers to present and discuss the latest corporate governance research issues and practices.

This is a general corporate governance track which invites contributions from all areas of corporate governance. We welcome studies that will address the recent trends corporate governance faces including ESG criteria and related reporting for firms. Studies could also include traditional corporate governance topics including ownership structure, corporate social responsibility, board efficiency and good practices, latest regulatory reforms worldwide, international corporate governance, external corporate governance and the role of capital markets and institutional investors.

The track has a specific interest on the developing economies in the Mediterranean, Balkans and in Eastern Europe and studies investigating the state of the debate around corporate governance in less developed capital market states.

Proponent of the track: Hellenic Observatory of Corporate Governance (HOOG) and Professor Dimitrios Koufopoulos, Founder of the (HOOG) and Director of the Online Global MBA Programs, V. Professor Queen Mary Uni, Honorary Research Fellow at Birkbeck University.

List of journal for publication:

Corporate Board: Role, Duties and Composition (<https://virtusinterpress.org/-Corporate-Board-Role-Duties-and-Composition-.html>) - special issue (papers should fit the scope of the journal <https://virtusinterpress.org/General-information,4769.html>)